

+ Overwhelm First Aid

For the moments when everything feels like too much and you can't start. Follow the arrows, do one small thing, and come back to the chart if you need to.

STUCK? START HERE.

Still stuck?

Stop for today. Rest counts as doing something, and tomorrow's brain may find this easier. The task will still be there, and so will this chart.

Pocket prompts

Cut along the dashed lines and keep one in your wallet, planner or phone case. Credit-card size.

+ BODY FIRST

Water. Snack. Loo. Then decide.

Larkspur & Co.

+ FIVE MINUTES

Set a timer. I'm allowed to stop when it rings.

Larkspur & Co.

+ GOOD ENOUGH

Done badly still counts as done.

Larkspur & Co.

+ ONE THING

Pick one. The rest can wait.

Larkspur & Co.

+ SHRINK IT

What's the smallest next step? Do only that.

Larkspur & Co.

+ BORROW COMPANY

Who could sit with me while I do this?

Larkspur & Co.

+ BRAIN DUMP

Write it down so my head can let go of it.

Larkspur & Co.

+ REST COUNTS

Stopping for today is a plan too.

Larkspur & Co.